

Welcome to the only beachfront lifestyle hotel in Venice

Experience Venice Beach like a local at the V— Venice's only beachfront lifestyle hotel, designed in a soulfully reimagined 1915 landmark. Once a hangout for the Hollywood elite, the V is a home base for today's creative nomad, just steps from Venice's legendary skate park, surf, eclectic dining, and entertainment. Inside each distinct room, suite, and rooftop bungalow, original period details seamlessly blend with modern amenities...and every room offers a stunning Pacific Ocean view. At long last, your perfect Venice Beach hideaway is here.

Landmark Building

Set in a 1915 historical building that's been the backdrop of Hollywood films and home to A-List stars, the Venice V (originally called The Waldorf) was "the Jewel of Ocean Front Walk," and a residence for the Hollywood elite, with long-term bungalow tenants including Charlie Chaplin, Clara Bow, Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, and Wallace Berry— some of whom were guests for years while soaking up Venice's iconic charm. By the 1960s, a new era in Venice had emerged, and with it a restoration of the Waldorf with the oldest operating elevator west of the Mississippi.

Where Past Meets Present

The present-day Venice V embraces the building's historic foundation, with a dedication to preserving many of its special original period details including exposed interior riveted steel beams, a central grand staircase, and a carefully restored elevator with etched bronze doors, mahogany, and brass interior. Unique details are around every corner, from the curated local art in every guest room to the striking lobby mural of Venice visionary Abbot Kinney, constructed entirely of skateboard wheels. An effortless cool runs deep— to stay at the Venice V is to live like a local Venetian.

Truly One-of-a-Kind Rooms & Suites

The V is a nod to the eclectic range of the Venice story, with no two rooms, suites, or spacious bungalows alike. Three distinct, design-driven room themes offer interiors inspired by beach bohemians; cozy, creativity-inducing artist studios; and skate/surf culture. The spacious rooms and suites range from 200-560 square feet and feature stunning Pacific Ocean views, open floor plans, hardwood floors, and walk-in showers. In every space, original details from the historic building were preserved while weaving in elevated touches like custom LED lighting, oversized noise-cancelling windows, platform beds, imported linens, and Aesop bath amenities.

Rooftop Bungalows & Penthouses

The seven spacious rooftop bungalows range from 270-470 square feet and are idyllic, private, quiet hideaways— perfect for either short or long-term stays. With each bungalow offering stunning, unobstructed ocean views, the spaces are inspiring escapes filled with an abundance of residential comforts like hardwood floors, seating areas to work or play, original art, kitchen nooks and oversized walk-in showers, some with ocean and city views. Intimate and special, every bungalow has its own private entrance and includes luxurious amenities and distinctive details throughout.

The V Experience

As a Venice V guest, you're instantly part of a curated local experience, with regular activations like beach yoga and running groups, local surf and skate lessons, curated picnics, guided bike tours, and more. When you're not getting active or lounging in the sun, you're just steps away from the Boardwalk's eclectic shopping, Abbot Kinney's world-class dining, and Windward Avenue's unique neighborhood culture.

The Neighborhood

The Venice V is located in the heart of Venice Beach— a globally renowned neighborhood originally conceived in 1905 by visionary American developer and conservationist Abbot Kinney. Inspired to create the "Venice of America," he designed a themed seaside resort complete with canals, gondolas, and an arched colonnade framing a town square.

Generations later, modern Venice remains one of the most exciting and vibrant beach communities in the world. At Venice V, you're in the middle of it all: the world-renowned beach skate park, local surf breaks, eclectic shopping, dining, and entertainment are all outside your front door. The Venice boardwalk with street performers and local vendors await— offering the most amazing people watching on the planet.

Meetings & Events

Adaptability is at the heart of the Venice V, with a once basement theatre transformed into an open, evolving, tech-friendly space for our community and travelers alike— a hub for group meetings, private screenings, speakeasy cocktails, wellness gatherings, and more.
